

Ulster Woodturners Shavings 59 - January 2020

Chairman's comment!

A great entry in our competitions this month! Let's see if we can keep it up. The rest of the years competitions are at the back of this Shavings, so you can print the page off and put it in your workshop to remind you.

The members of the Ulster Woodturning Committee for 2020 are :-

Eugene Grimley, Mark McGranaghan, Paul Finlay, Brendan McAreavy, Ricky McDonald, Stephen Dowie and Billy Ferris with assistance from Peter Lyons, Malachy Totten , Jim Neill and David Stewart.

On your behalf I would like to thank those who have volunteered to help and I would welcome others who would like to help even on an emergency basis by standing in for someone who cannot attend.

Just to repeat, the first off-site demo is at Ballynure on 29th February. We will be part of the annual "Ballynure Day". We have the usual crew willing to attend but as I explained at the demo it is better to have some locals there to support them. Ballynure is quite close to the Woodshed but many people will not know of its existence and locals can more easily direct them. If you can help please let me or Ricky know.

We will be putting on a show once again for the month of August in Bangor Museum

We wish our members a Happy New Year and hope that 2020 is kind to you all.

The Ulster Woodturners opened 2020 with a packed house and an afternoon demonstration by Fergal Megannety, from Donegal.

Fergal opened his demo by turning a natural edge bowl from a piece of Ash. He said he prefers to use green wood as he feels it is easier on the tools and quicker to get results with than dry wood. The blank was mounted on a faceplate, in preference to a screw chuck, and held in a chuck while the bottom of the bowl was shaped and a mortice cut for turning the blank onto a chuck expansion grip.

When the blank was reversed and secure in the chuck Fergal used a parting tool to help define the boundary of the natural edge he wanted to retain. Using a bowl gouge, he then removed the wood from the inside of the blank and refined the internal shape and wall thickness with a round-nose scraper. He advised keeping some CA glue for use in the event a piece of bark broke off the rim.

Conveniently, Fergal finished the bowl just in time for tea so there was a break and proceedings resumed after all were fed and watered.

For his second piece Fergal demonstrated how to turn a sphere and mounted a Yew blank between centres. He trued the blank to a cylinder and then measured the diameter to determine the layout on the blank. A centre centres so that he could remove the nubs, true the surface, and then sand the piece by rotating it between the cups until the entire surface was satisfactory. The resulting Yew sphere was very attractive.

We thank Fergal, and his wife, for making the long drive from Donegal to visit us and hope they enjoyed their afternoon with us.

line was drawn around the blank and the 130mm diameter measurement divided in half to set two lines 65mm from the centre line as the outermost dimension of the sphere. Multiplying the diameter by 0.414 gave a measurement of 53.8mm which was used to set the diameter of the tenon that was cut on each side of the sphere.

With the tenon cut, dividers were set at 26.9mm (half the tenon diameter) and layout lines were drawn that distance from the centre line and tenons. These lines were joined up with a straight cut, the new planes divided in half, and those new lines joined by cuts to take the 'corners' off. This resulted in a reasonably smooth surface so Fergal cut the tenons off and mounted the blank between two cup
